

Seeking a Student Assistant to work at the Chair of Economics & Social Policy

- Application Deadline: 15 August 2022 -

We are looking for a student assistant as soon as possible (starting in October 2022) to work at the FAU Chair of Economics & Social Policy in Nuremberg. You will support the chair in researching, acquiring and evaluating literature and empirical data, and with general office tasks. The position is initially limited to 4 months, but an extension is aimed for.

We are seeking:

- good PC skills and sound knowledge of common office software (Word, Excel)
- Willingness to familiarize yourself with the statistical software Stata
- Interest in economic or socio-political issues, especially empirical issues
- Interest in a longer-term commitment, good knowledge of English and a strong academic record. German language skills are desirable.

We offer:

- a varied range of tasks
- insight into scientific work and participation in research projects
- team-oriented collaboration
- the possibility of a flexible work schedule and consideration of exam preparation and internships
- a weekly work time of tentatively 6-8 hours starting in October 2022, with the possibility of working at home

Advantageous qualifications for the position:

- Experience with empirical analyses and data preparation
- Software skills in Stata or R; knowledge of GIS software (QGIS, ArcGIS) if applicable

Please send your complete application documents including your grades

no later than 15 August 2022 to Prof. Dr. Matthias Wrede per E-Mail at: wiso-sozialpolitik-office@fau.de.

If you have questions about the position, contact either Luisa Schneider, M.Sc. per E-Mail at: luisa.schneider@fau.de or Sebastian Ach, M.Sc. at: sebastian.ach@fau.de.

You can find further information about our chair at: www.sozialpolitik.rw.fau.de.